Skin cancer

Nearly half of the 582 people screened for skin cancer at ten south Central Pennsylvania hospitals in May were advised to seek follow-up testing because they were discovered to have suspicious lesions.

Twenty-seven dermatologists volunteering at the screenings found that 279, or 48 percent, of persons screened had suspected skin cancers or precancers. Of those, three had suspected melanomas. Melanoma is the least common but most serious form of skin cancer. If not treated early, it can spread to vital organs and become difficult to treat.

Protect your eyes on the 4th of July

Celebrating with fireworks and picnics is a traditional way to mark our nation's birthday.

To help you plan a safe Independence Day, Dr. Joseph W. Bytof, Optometrist, offers suggestions on protecting your eyes during the outdoor festivities.

For physical, as well as legal, safety, leave the fireworks displays to the professionals!

Parents must carefully supervise children while sparklers are being used, Dr. Bytof warns. Although this popular item may seem harmless, it can cause serious eye injuries, he adds.

A sparkler actually contains tiny particles of metal that "fly away" when the small stick is ignited. If a piece of hot metal flys into the eye, it may lodge there and require medical care, the doctor explains.

"Be especially careful to hold the sparkler away from your face and body when lighting it," Dr. Bytof warns. "That's when many sparks fly."

The sparks are especially dangerous to the eyes, but they also can cause burns to any part of the body, he adds.

Another cause of eye burns is the popular outdoor grill. Careless cooks who add lighter fluid after the coals have been ignited could cause flames to "flash" into their eyes and burn them, the doctor explains.

When first starting the grill, hold the lighter fluid away from you. Avoid splashing it off the coals, and possibly into you eyes.

If lighter fluid gets into your eyes, immediately rinse them with water continuously for 20 minutes, and call your doctor, Dr. Bytof advises.

Although the previous precautions focus on short-term problems, the following eye malady develops over a period of years.

It has been proven that prolonged exposure to ultraviolet (UV) sunlight causes the development of cataracts, Dr. Bytof says.

Therefore, it is imperative for people who frequently wear sunglasses to make sure their dark lenses have a protective coating to screen out UV lights, he emphasizes.

Dark lenses cause the pupil to dilate (open), allowing more light into the eye, he explains. Without the protective coating, the eyes are most susceptible to damage from UV rays.

When purchasing a pair of sunglasses, look for a label or sticker which indicates the lenses have the protective coating, or ask your eye car professional.

Paul Lotier tops sprints

Paul Lotier won the 25-lap sprint car feature at Williams Grove Speedway Friday and Sam Ross scored his second win in Limited car competition on York County Racing Club Night.

The victory, worth $2500, was Lotier's first of the year at Williams Grove and his 7th career win here.

Lotier also become the 11th different driver to win a Sprint car feature this year.

Rounding out the top ten were: Stan Stambaugh, Bobby Fletcher, Barry Camp, Dave Kelly, Fred Rahmer, Steve Smith, Johnny Mackison, Donny Kreitz and Bobby Weaver.

Sam Ross became the first driver to repeat in Limited Sprint action this season.

Rounding out the top ten for that race were: Don Wolfe, Johnny Martin, Tom Spriggle, Bobby Essick, Gene Knaub, Steve Villella, Dave Smith, Bill Peters and Jim Novinger.

Sprints & Sportsman Friday

Two former Williams Grove competitors will be remembered with the running of the Daryl Gohn Memorial on Friday night, June 29 and the Smith Memorial coming up on Tuesday evening, July 3.

The Gohn Memorial, a 25-lap feature for Sprint cars, will highlight General Electric Night at Williams Grove. The Super Sportsman will also be on the card.

Gohn was a regular for several years in the Sprint car division at Williams Grove winning a feature here in 1987. He was fatally injured in a racing accident in April of 1988.

A large crowd is expected Friday since the Super Sportsman will be making their second appearance of the season. Rich Eichelberger won the first event on April 13.

The first heat is scheduled for 8 p.m.

General Electric will be offering some prizes for the fans this week through the efforts of Bill Kronenberg of Smith's Appliances in Carlisle. Kronenberg is also the owner of Joey Kuhn's Sprint car. Kuhn, a former Super Sportsman champion, is now a top contender in the Sprint car division.

Coming in tradition of presenting a racing event on the eve of a holiday, Williams Grove will swing back into action on Tuesday, July 3. Time trials will open the program at 7:15.

The Mitch Smith Memorial will be a championship event for the Sprint cars with the winner taking home $3200.

An addition to the schedule shows that the Limited Sprint cars will also be on the program.

Mitch Smith was one of Central Pennsylvania's most legendary drivers. His victories against the stars of the United States Auto Club (USAC) during the early '70's helped put the mid-state circuit on the national map of Sprint car racing.

A spectacular fireworks display will be presented following the racing on July 3.

The season's third Enduro 200 is scheduled for Wednesday, July 4.

PUNDITS, POETS, & WITS, by Karl E. Meyer (Oxford Univ. Press $16.95)

THE OXFORD BOOK OF HUMOROUS PROSE, by Frank Muir (Oxford Univ. Press $16.00)

It is not surprising to find so overlapping of names in each of these volumes. Many of the "Pundits, Poets & Wits" appear equally at home in the Muir collection of humor (even Walter Lippmann appa rently came forth from oracle's cave occasionally to indulge in a bit of humorous writing).

Mr. Meyer, a N.Y. Times editorial board member, offers selections from Ben Franklin down through Mencken and William Safire. Yet they seem uneven. Hedda Hopper and Louella Parsons as much created Hollywood and the motion picture industry as did Louis B. Mayer and Sam Goldwyn, but they are relegated to an appendix. Nor is there mention of Elizabeth Cochrane, who as Nellie Bly traveled around the world in less than 80 days, or the later Dorothy Kilgallen who repeated the feat and became a celebrated gossip columnist as well as headline reporter. There are others.

Mr. Muir, a British TV personality, on the other hand sends his whimsical way from William Cowper (?) to P.G. Wodehouse with even a brower's perk at Marx (Groucho). Fuuuunny!

The Public Citizen Health Research group obtained FDA documents clearly demonstrating that silicone gel, currently being implanted in 150,000 women a year as breast implants, causes highly malignant cancers in 25% of test animals. One FDA memo states, "While there is no direct proof that silicone causes cancers in humans, there is considerable reason to suspect that it can do so."
